rick - if you can pull up some of the history of EJ issues viz NRDC lawsuit etc. and how the task force tried this near the end of the decision ... laura and kelly also probably recall some of the dynamics from back in my days in srrd when aspects of this issue were being presented..

Lisa, We've spent some time with Peter Grevatt on this issue as the company first raised issues with respect to Children's health. They are now trying to raise EJ issues. Let me know if you'd like us to give you a briefing on our efforts with respect to regulating rodenticides.

Dear Ms. Garcia,

Attached is a letter to follow up on correspondence from Reckitt Benckiser expressing our concern that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in implementing its Risk Mitigation Decision for Ten Rodenticides ("RMD"), has consistently failed to follow its stated policy of integrating environmental justice and civil rights into its "programs, policies, and daily work."

We look forward to your response and, if desired, an opportunity to dialogue on these issues with you and your staff.

Best regards,

Hal Ambuter
